

Department of Indology and Comparative Religion

Paper & Pixel II

International Winter School on Digital Humanities in Indology

17.-21.12.2015

Department of Indology & University Library, Tübingen

17.12.2015

12.00-13.30: Introduction: Digital Humanities infrastructures opportunities for Indology Heike Oberlin – Elena Mucciarelli

13.30-15.30: lunch break

15.30-17.00: Virtual Research Environment for Indology Peter Gietz

18.12.2015

10.00-11.30: Applying Deep Learning to Sanskrit NLP processing and encoding: Indology and computer philology.

Oliver Hellwig

11.30-12.00: coffee break

12.00-13.30: A research environment that I WANT to use and that I CAN use. Anand Mishra

13.30-15.30: lunch

15:30-17:00: Socio-semantic network analysis on the example of the Mahābhārata. Sven Sellmer

19.12.2015

10.00-11.30: Titus, Gretil, Sarit, Sanskrit library etc.: Presentation and discussion of some digital Sanskrit text collections. Matthias Ahlborn

11.30-12.00: coffee break

12.00-13.30: Round table

20.12.2015

10.00-11.30: The Orissa Project: Data through time and space. Matthias Lang

11.30-12.00: coffee break

12.30-13.30: Does machine understand Manuscripts? Sree Ganesh Thotempudi

13.30-15.30 lunch break

15.30-17.00: Python for Digital Humanities. Sree Ganesh Thotempudi

21.12.2015

10.00-11.30: TBD Marco Franceschini

11.30-12.00: coffee break

12.00-13.30: A Real Object in the Virtual World. Camillo Formigatti

13.30-15.30: lunch break

15.30-17.00: Practical exercise: South Asian manuscripts and TEI. Camillo Formigatti

Students and scholars are invited, participation is free of charge.
Please contact Elena Mucciarelli elena.mucciarelli@indo.uni-tuebingen.de

Supported by the Institutional Strategy of the University of Tuebingen (DFG, ZUK 63)